THE THRICE-A-WEEK

EDITION OF THE

NEW YORK WORLD

IN 1917

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. The great war in Europe is now half way into its third year, and, whether peace be at hand or yet be far off, it and the events to follow it are sure to be of absorbing interest for many a month to come.

These are world-shaking affairs, in which the United States, willing or unwilling, is compelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and the

HOPKINSVILLE KENTUCKIAN (Tri-weekly.)

together for one year for $2.65. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00

Apples Most Valuable Fruit.

The apple is pre-eminent in the household economy for no other fruit excels it in culinary usefulness. It graces the table in a far greater variety than any other fruit. Of all fruits grown in North America, the apple leads in amount and intrinsic value. No fear of an overproduction, however, if the means of transportation and distribution are perfected. What if we do raise 125,000 carloads of apples or 62,000,000 boxes a year? This is but half a box to a person not counting what we export. That isn't very many.—Exchange.

Lily Bed's Beautiful River. Some of the most beautiful and extensive natural water-lily beds in the world are to be found along the upper Mississippi. During the summer months persons come from miles around to look upon these vast exquisite displays. When the river is low portions of its bed, in some cases scores of acres in extent, are covered with shallow water, or wholly exposed. In such places the white and yellow lilies, surrounded by their shining green leaves, are to be found, some of the beds stretching as far as the eye can see.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

MAN NOT DESCENDANT OF APE

Scientist Points Out Differences Between Two Which He Deeds Theory of Evolution to Explain.

Dr. Mattoon M. Curtis, professor of philosophy in Western Reserve university, protests in a letter to Science against the assertion, still common in current scientific literature, that man is a descendant of the anthropoid apes. He quotes Professor Duckworth, the leading authority in this field, who wrote in his "Morphology and Anthropology":

"We must conclude that the existing anthropoid apes, constituted as they now are, did not figure in the ancestry of man."

And he points out some of the fundamental differences between man and the apes, differences which defy any theory of evolution to explain. Among these differences are those in the form of the skulls, the shape of the most ancient skulls that have been found being substantially the same as the shape of the skulls of today.

Professor Curtis pleads that sound science and sound education be based upon actual facts and such theories as grow out of them, rather than upon mere speculations.

CATTLE GET BEST OF GRAIN

Grandparents of Present Generation Were Strong Because They Ate Whole Wheat Bread.

That there is a campaign among the millers of wheat and interests allied to them to discredit efforts to persuade people to prefer whole wheat bread to white bread is asserted by Dr. Charles E. Banks, senior surgeon of the United States public health service.

He says that present methods of milling utilize 75 per cent of the grain, and this is almost exclusively the starchy part; the other 25 per cent, containing the phosphorus, mineral salts, vitamins, etc., is sold by the millers as feed for hogs and cattle. These grow fat on it, for they are getting the best part of the wheat.

Doctor Banks says the diet of white bread is responsible for Americans of today being pale and anemic in youth and fat and flabby at forty, whereas their grandparents, who ate whole wheat bread, were strong and athletic.

DIDN'T LIKE PICKET DUTY.

There is at least one Boy Scout encamped with the other members of his troop in Palisades park who has been disillusioned regarding the glories of camp life, according to a New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. He may later become a soldier, but it won't be because of the glamour surrounding tented life in the wilderness. The Scout's dad is a newspaper man and he detailed his son to take careful note of the activities of the troop and write it up for publication. He obeyed his instructions so carefully that when the first installment arrived at the newspaper office it was mistaken for summer resort news, so voluminous was the text. But everything was there, including even the author's own deeds and misdeeds. "I like everything but picket duty," he finished, "every time we have a chicken to roast, I am detailed to pick it."

AFTER MARRIAGE.

"He used to vow he loved the ground she walked on."
"The ancestral domain, eh?"
"Yes. Pretended he loved the ground she walked on, and now he's trying to mortgage a lot of it!"

THE FITTING REMEDY.

"Miss Jones is always going on the floor above without asking permission."
"Then call her down."

WOMAN DIRECTS HOME PURCHASES

Quick to Recognize Genius and Sensible Men.

HER WEAKNESS AS A BUYER

Her Susceptibility to Bargains—Women Have More Strength in Their Looks Than We Have in Our Laws. Men Allude to Them as Weaker Vessels.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.]

Women have more strength in their looks than we have in our laws and more power by their tears than we have by our arguments. Women are quick to recognize genius and to listen when wisdom speaks. They may chatter in the presence of fools, but know and appreciate the value of earnest, sensible men.

It is assumed that the Almighty made man as his masterpiece, and, conceited being that he is, man accepted this statement as a piece of truth.

That the earth and all it contains were made for his special benefit, that woman was created solely for his comfort, that the sun was made to give him light by day and the moon to enable him to find his way home at night, that the heavens were hung with a resplendent curtain of stars and the planets sent whirling through space in a majestic dance about the god of day simply to afford him matter for wonder and amusement—ideas of this sort evince an egotism that can only be accredited to man.

Masterpieces indeed! Why, God made man and, finding that he could not take care of himself, made woman to care of him, and she is discharging her heaven ordained duty in an artistic and capable manner.

Are Women the Weaker Vessels?

Men are fond of alluding to women as "the weaker vessels," and Pope calls man the "great lord of things." Men rule with a rod of iron the creatures of the earth, the sea and the air. They hurl defiance in the face of kings and presidents. They tread the ocean's foam beneath their feet, they harness the imperial thunderbolts to the jangling electric car and even succeed in mounting the storm and flying upon the wind, but the bravest of them tremble and flee like Cretans when called upon by their wives to explain some of their extravagant purchases, and for this reason many men delegate their wives as the official "family shoppers" and thereby shift the responsibility to them.

Miss Katie McDaniel No. 1 Odd Fellows Building Phones— Residence, 210. Office, 179-2. Fire, Life, Tornado—Accident and Health Liability. Workmen's Compensation.

More Good Sense Than Men.

Women have more good sense than men. They have fewer pretensions, are less implicated in theories and judge of values more from their immediate and involuntary impressions on the mind and therefore more truly and naturally. It is said "men have sight, women insight." For these and many more reasons women make better shoppers than men.

Women regulate their purchases altogether by the amount they have to spend, men by the amount of credit they can get. Women like to put their money where it will do the most good, men where it will make the greatest show. Men are usually "broke," women very seldom. All of which goes to show that women are the "stronger vessels" after all.

Women Are Prone to Bargains.

Woman's weakness as a purchaser lies in her pronounced susceptibility to bargains. No man ever followed freedom's flag for patriotism with half the enthusiasm that woman will trail the red, white and blue that constitute the banner of the bargain counter. And therein lies her temptation. This trait of woman's nature is recognized by the mail order and retail catalogue houses to the extent that nearly all of their misleading circulars and pictorial catalogues are addressed to the women. And the women, true to their natures, respond with many orders.

Their Spirit of Loyalty.

But if women are prone to bargain they are also possessed with the sense and spirit of loyalty to their own town and community when once they come to a full realization of the injury they are working both to themselves and their home merchants by sending their money away to some large corporation in a big city for goods that they can buy as cheaply and of much better grade at home and without the inconvenience necessitated by long delays when ordering from out of town merchants.

The Slogan of Woman.

Women not only make the home worth while, but they make the local town, the countryside and the whole community worth while. Wherever there is found a movement on foot for the uplift and betterment of community interests and conditions woman's power and woman's influence can always be found behind it. Woman's slogan is, "Purity of home, purity of community and the home town and home merchant forever."

The mail order patrons are not willfully and consciously in the wrong; they are merely mistaken. They are to use the language of a jokesmith of a dead century—trying to skin a flint worth a nickel and spoiling a jack-knife worth a dollar.
